“All I am my mother made me” - John Quincy Adams

I can honestly say that my mother was the single-most influential and important person in my life growing up. Her perseverance through the trials of life, her commitment to her children, and last but not least, her godly example... have helped me be the person I am today. I firmly believe that God had a plan for me and my life and used my mother's influence to help make His plans come to pass.

As a young man I was often told that I took after my mother more so than my dad. At the time, I can recall resenting that remark... especially since most boys when they are growing up want to be just like their dad. There are some things I admire about my dad, but now as an adult as I reflect back on that statement; I realize that it was a tremendous compliment. I am thankful to God that I take after my mom in many respects. I am all my mother and God made me!

I love and appreciate my mom and she is deserving of honor and praise.

“Charm is deceitful and beauty is passing, but a woman who reveres the Lord will be praised.”
Proverbs 31:30
